

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

—Tom Brown says (so Hugh Will says) that "a red nose means stop."

—The Nationals of Jackson county have nominated candidates for sheriff and coroner.

—The public schools of Grayville, White county, will close on the 17th inst. A closing day picnic is talked of among the pupils.

—The Murphysboro Independent is glad to learn that Mr. Thomas M. Logan, of that place, has recovered from late serious illness. So are we.

—Willie Andrews, son of Judge Andrews, of Murphysboro, Jackson county, had his collar bone broken lately while playing with some of his schoolmates.

—The Southern Illinois Academy of Sciences will meet in Murphysboro, May 3 and 4. Dr. Thomas, President of the Academy, will deliver an address Friday evening.

—The commencement of the next Annual Commencement of the Southern Illinois Normal University will commence on the 13th of June. We commence to see it.

—The Murphysboro Independent says: "Straight Edge, the celebrated pacer, recently owned by Thomas M. Logan, has been purchased by Messrs. W. S. Rogers and John M. Campbell."

—At a late meeting of the Makanda Fruit Growers' Association a resolution was passed adopting the old strawberry box. This box seems to be in favor with the commission men, as when it is properly filled, it holds a quart.

—Gleconda Herald: "Our wheat crop is now pretty generally conceded to be a failure, and many are of the opinion that seed will not be made in many localities. View it as you will, it is a calamity to be deplored by all, as in many cases all available land was put in wheat."

—Sowers, the local of the Murphysboro Independent, "yums-yums" as he says: "The prospects of an immense yield of strawberries never was better in this country. The berries are ripening much earlier than usual and we are anxiously awaiting for their first appearance in market."

—The Murphysboro Independent: "Of the names of those spoken of for the office of sheriff upon the Democratic ticket we hear none more prominently mentioned than Mr. H. H. Fox, of our place. Mr. Fox is a capable man, would make a good officer and would run a strong race. In fact, he would be elected by a large majority."

—The Carbondale Observer says: "We shall publish next week an exceedingly valuable paper, entitled the Early History of Carbondale, by Col. E. H. Brush. It is a mass of data and facts that no other person living could give so correctly, since with Col. Brush originated the idea of founding the town and he has ever been a principal actor in making its history. In a few years more when Carbondale is enjoying its brilliant future this historical sketch will be indisputable authority for all the important facts of its past history. All persons desiring extra copies should leave orders at this office during the present week."

Fare for the round trip only 50 cents for all over twelve years, and 25 cents for all under twelve years. So come along, bring your dinner baskets and let's have one day of genuine pleasure. Tickets can be had at the stores of Alden, Graves & Co., Thistlewood & Co., or of Capt. Miller, Green Line Agent.

"DON'T YOU FORGET IT"
That the "Reform Saloon," corner of Tenth street and Washington avenue and Poplar, is now supplied with the best Weiss beer ever brought to Cairo. It is an imported article, palatable, cool and delicious. You should further know that if a glass of Seltzer water, Sheboygan mineral water, or ice cold lemonade is among your wants, you can be supplied more satisfactorily at the Reform Saloon than anywhere else in Cairo. Making a specialty of Temperance drinks—such beverages as are healthful and harmless—the proprietor of the Reform Saloon feels assured of his ability to accommodate all demands in that line in a manner that is sure to please even the most exacting. And cigars and tobacco: I keep the best brands that are made, as all my patrons are ready to testify. Don't you forget this, either. I shall strive hard to deserve patronage; and now I invite my friends and everybody to drop in and see me.

HAVE YOU A COUGH.

That dry hacking cough is the herald of approaching consumption. To check the swift progress of the destroyer, prompt and decisive measures must be resorted to. A dose of Dr. Morris' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Horehound, taken when the coughing spells come on, will afford immediate relief, and eventually effect a thorough cure. It will be found equally beneficial in all forms of throat and lung disorders. In case of croup it is of inestimable value. Call at the drug store of Barclay Brothers and inquire about it; they will furnish you with a trial size bottle for 10 cents. Large sizes 50 cents and one dollar.

Also agents for Prof. Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup, which never fails. Pleasant to take, and requires no physic. Price 25 cts.

AN ASTONISHING FACT.

A large proportion of the American people are to-day suffering from the effects of Dyspepsia, or disordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness, as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of druggists and your friends, and try one bottle of Green's August Flower. Your speedy relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues, with satisfactory results in every case. You can buy a sample bottle for ten cents to try. Three doses will relieve the worst case. Positively sold by all druggists on the Western Continent.

A NEW German school will be opened on the first of May, 1878, at the old German school-house, on Fourteenth street. Parents wishing to send their children there can not have a better opportunity. Also an evening school will be opened. Ladies and gentlemen wishing to learn the German or French languages, will do well to take advantage of this opportunity. Terms moderate, according to the times. For particulars address lock box 519. P. M. FRIEDERICH, Cairo, Ill.

ERRORS IN THE ADMINISTRATION.—President Hayes may commit previous errors in his government policy, but the person who administers Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for biliousness, or liver complaint, impure blood, scrofula, or king's evil, pimples, blotches, eruptions, or any blood disease, will be rewarded by the restoration of health and order in the diseased system.

The James D. Parker adds 25,000 feet of lumber above here for Cincinnati.

The Florence Meyer passed without landing to the Arkansas river.

The Grand Tower made liberal additions here, and is well laden for Vicksburg.

The railroad transfer steamer Dunleith, which has been rebuilt at Mound City by Captain Hambleton who was her original builder 10 years ago, will sail for Dunleith this evening. Those who saw her pass to Mound City a short time ago, will remember what a forsaken, dilapidated looking craft she was. She seemed played out in every sense of the word. Her chimneys leaned toward Jones' and her pilot house toward Smith's, and it was impossible to tell how her upper works were held together. Those who saw her then would not recognize her now. Staunch, trim and neat, she is a first-class transfer steamer now, ready for many years of active service. Captain Hambleton has performed the job rapidly and in his usual substantial style, and is not ashamed to place her on exhibition as a sample of good work.

A KING'S DISSIPATIONS.

HOW THREE DISTINGUISHED FRIENDS PASSED A NIGHT IN PARIS.

[Paris Letter to the Philadelphia Press.]
The Constitutional recounts a curious history concerning Lebrun, the author of "L'Enfant du Carnaval." Pignat Lebrun was named librarian of the king of Westphalia, but held his honors but a few hours.

Comrade of pleasure of the Prince Jerome Bonaparte, he had tossed and sung with him on many occasions. The same evening of the day when he learned that he was to wear a crown, the brother of the "Artist in Battles" met Lebrun and M. C— as they were leaving the theatre Monfaisier.

"Ah!" cried he, "I am happy to see you. Do you know the good news? I am king of Westphalia!"

"Sire!" replied Lebrun, "but your majesty will permit—"

"No compliments my dear; no flatteries before my installation; let me be met by me. For the moment, let us go and have a good repast, and celebrate my luck, glass in hand."

Jerome took each by the arm, and they went to the establishment of Mahant, a famous restaurant of the times. The Amphytrion served a royal supper. The champagne foamed, the spirits were exhilarated, the hearts happy. Jerome said that he wished never to be separated from his dear friends. "We shall give in these modern times," cried he, "the example of an antique friendship. So that nothing may divide us, I will bring you to my Court. Then," said he to C—, "thou shalt be my secretary; then, Pignat, as thou lovest books, I name my bibliothecaire."

So the champagne succeeded the punch, and it was two o'clock in the morning when the bell rung and the note was asked. It was over two hundred francs. Jerome not having foreseen the circumstances, had not provided himself, and the two friends were far from having the necessary funds.

Great embarrassment. Mahant was summoned; they made known to him the gravity of the situation. A light flashed upon him, he knelt his brow, but not knowing his distinguished patrons, he said, "Messieurs, at least be so obliging as to make known your names and positions?"

"I," replied, at first, M. de C—, "I am the secretary of his majesty the king of Westphalia."

"Oh! That is very well!" replied the proprietor; then addressing himself to Pignat: "And you, monsieur?"

"I, I am bibliothecaire of the king of Westphalia."

"Then," said Mahant, who began to be mystified, "this great body ought to be the king of Westphalia in person."

"Precisely, rascal, but I shall teach thee how to speak to the great body," and he raised his arm as if to chastise his insolence.

"Ah, that is too much," cried Mahant, rushing toward the stranger. "Mock me if it is your pleasure; we shall see if you mock the police."

"Wait! wait!" cried Jerome, running after him, "there is my watch, which is worth ten times the sum; I leave it as security—tomorrow your note will be paid." And he handed the man a splendid watch, which Josephine had given him, and upon which the numbers of the empress were designed in brilliants.

With such a pledge the proprietor allowed the imprudent friends to depart, and they made their escape with due speed.

Hardly were they outside when Mahant suspected that the watch had been stolen. Early in the morning he sought the commissaire of the quarter; the agent, who recognized the imperial mark, hastened to the prefect of the prefect of the minister to the interior of Napoleon who was at Saint Cloud. The Emperor found the license a little too strong for a crowned head.

The next day he sent to the facciones Jerome the order to take himself immediately to Westphalia, and to bring with him no dignitary named by anticipation.

CHAMPTON SCHOOLMARM.
[From the Quincy (Ill.) National.]
Our schoolmarm stands five feet ten, and is prettier than an Arabian colt. She is smarter than anybody, and always makes the school superintendent's arm tired cutting notches in his stick to tally the points she makes on examination day. She can ride bareback the cusseted mustang that ever was foaled, and can dance anything from the dance of death down to a double-shuffle on a cedar parquette. She can sing psalm tunes like a ten-voiced angel or beat any sport in the state at seven-up. Now if any other California ranch wants to gamble on schoolmarms, wait till the snow gets off and bring along your stock.
